Loro Piana: Heritage Studio

Curated Transparency & Co-Luxury

Jingjing Fang · FASM 430

The Market Opportunity

€ 1.5T

Global Luxury Market

Reached in 2023, with ultra-high-net-worth population continuing to grow

75%

Prioritise Transparency

Of luxury buyers demand greater supply chain clarity

80%

Digital Influence

Of purchases influenced by digital channels

Ultra-luxury still lacks deep digital co-creation — a critical white space.

Project Objective

1

Drive Digital Growth

Without diluting exclusivity or compromising the brand's quiet positioning

2

Transform Ownership into Authorship

Invite clients to become co-creators of their own bespoke pieces

3

Leverage Vertical Integration

Capitalise on Loro Piana's end-to-end supply chain as a unique differentiator

4

Strengthen UHNWI Loyalty

Build deep relationships with ultra-high-net-worth individuals under 45

5

Build Long–Term Brand Equity

Cement Loro Piana as the definitive leader in meaningful, transparent luxury

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Founded in 1924, Italy

Global Leader in Rare Fibre Textiles

Sourcing the world's finest vicuña, cashmere, and baby cashmere

Acquired by LVMH in 2013

Backed by the world's largest luxury conglomerate

Positioned as "Quiet Luxury"

Understated, heritage-driven, anti-logo — the ultimate insider status symbol

Limited Digital Bespoke Interaction

A significant opportunity remains untapped in personalised digital engagement

SWOT Analysis

Strengths

- Rare fibre sourcing control — unmatched access to vicuña and baby cashmere
- Full vertical integration from pasture to finished garment
- Strong heritage positioning built over a century

Weaknesses

- Limited digital personalisation capabilities at present
- Digital bespoke interaction largely underdeveloped relative to demand

Opportunities

- Rising consumer demand for supply chain traceability
- Accelerating growth in the younger wealthy segment (under 45)

Threats

- Heritage competitors actively modernising their digital and bespoke offerings
- Risk of commoditisation if transparency becomes table stakes

Market Research

€ 362B

Personal Luxury Goods

Global market size in 2023

~20%

Bespoke Segment Growth

Annual growth rate in the bespoke luxury category

Digital Luxury Penetration Rising

Online channels increasingly driving discovery and conversion across all luxury tiers

Sustainability Drives Purchase Decisions

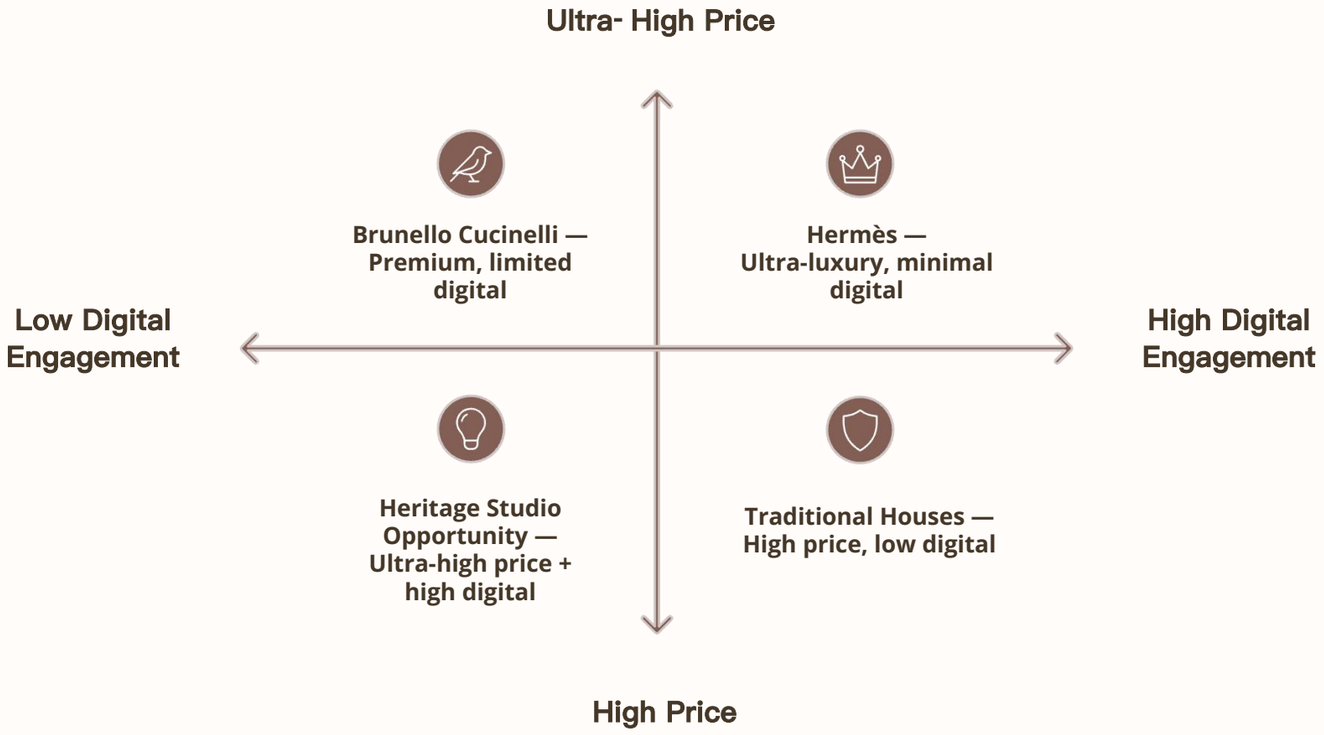
Provenance and environmental accountability are now key purchase criteria

Regulation Increasing Supply Chain Disclosure

EU and global policy mandates are accelerating transparency as a competitive necessity

Competitive Landscape

Positioning axes: Ultra-High Price vs. Digital Engagement



Brunello Cucinelli

Ethical humanism — premium positioning, limited digital bespoke

Hermès

Traditional craftsmanship — ultra-luxury, minimal digital participation

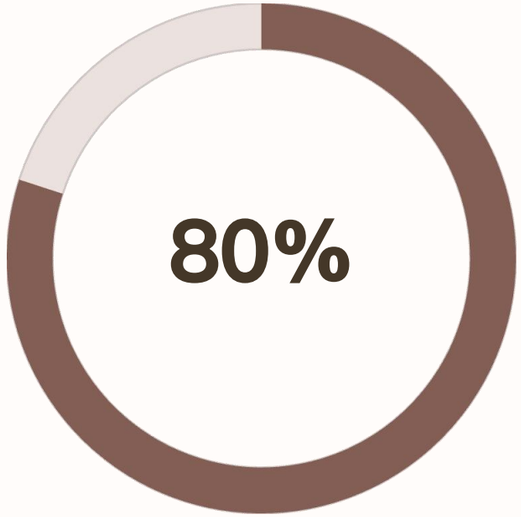
The Gap

Ultra-luxury + high digital participation — Loro Piana's unique opportunity

Primary Research

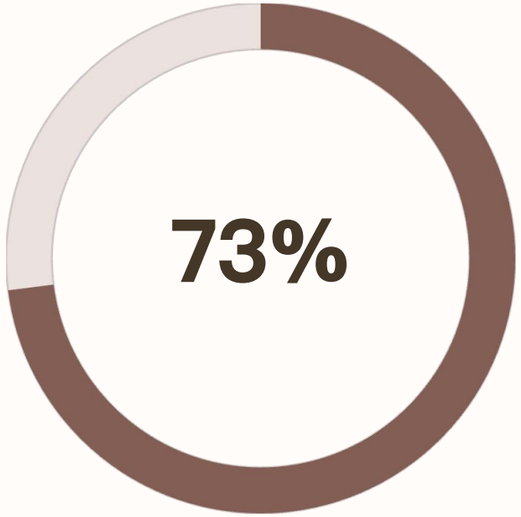
Research Method

- 15 in-depth qualitative interviews with UHNWI clients
- 30 structured UHNWI surveys across key luxury markets



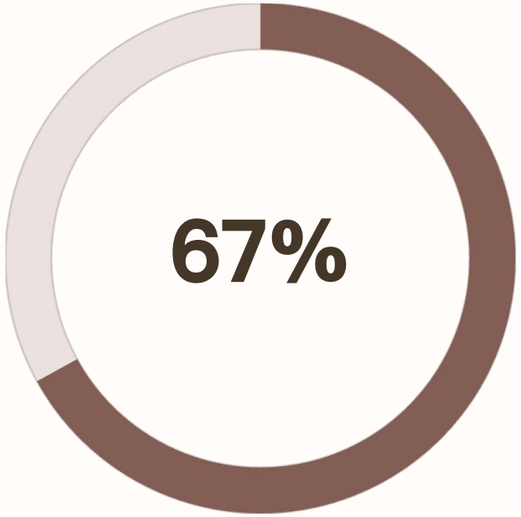
Seek Higher Transparency

In sourcing and production processes



Value Artisan Storytelling

Craft narrative is a core purchase driver



Desire Digital Design Participation

Want to co-create, not merely select

Emotional ownership — the sense of having co-authored a piece — measurably increases willingness to pay.

TARGET PERSONA

The Conscious Curator

Age 28—45 · Income $500K+

A new generation of ultra-wealthy who have redefined what luxury means

Values Discretion Over Logos

Status is signalled through knowledge and provenance, not visible branding

Invests in Meaning and Provenance

The story behind an object is inseparable from its value

Seeks Participation, Not Just Possession

Desires an active role in creation — authorship, not mere acquisition

Concept: Heritage Studio

Invitation–Only Bespoke Platform

Access by invitation — preserving exclusivity at every touchpoint

Real–Time Artisan Collaboration

Live digital connection between client and master craftsperson in Quarona

3D Digital Garment Visualisation

Photorealistic preview of bespoke pieces before a single thread is cut

Blockchain–Enabled Traceability

Immutable provenance record from raw fibre origin to finished garment

Emotional Co–Creation Experience

An end-to-end journey that transforms ownership into personal authorship

Product Portfolio

CORE

Bespoke garments crafted from the world's rarest natural fibres — each piece a singular commission.

ADD-ON

- Digital provenance certificate
- Artisan archive storytelling access

FUTURE

- Limited heritage capsule releases
- Private fibre reserve auctions

Distribution & Packaging

Flagship Private Salons

By-appointment access in the world's foremost luxury capitals.

Dedicated Client App

A seamless, discreet digital channel for the private client journey.

Cedar Presentation Box

Reusable cedar casing — sustainable, sensorial, unmistakably considered.

NFC Authentication Tag

Smart-tag verification embedded at the point of origin.

Product Lifecycle Strategy

1

Introduction

Invite-only launch for an ultra-select founding client tier.

2

Growth

Expand to top 5 global luxury cities.

3

Maturity

Permanent service integration across the full client ecosystem.

4

Expansion

Digital heritage experiences at scale.

Marketing Strategy

Objective

Increase UHNWI under 45 acquisition — reaching the next generation of quiet luxury patrons.

Positioning

"Co-Authored Quiet Luxury" — a category defined by its absence of ostentation.

Core Message

From Fibre to Forever — a singular narrative of origin, craft, and enduring ownership.

Tone

Discreet, intellectual, heritage-driven — never loud, always considered.

5Ps Framework

Product

Bespoke garments with verified digital provenance at every stage.

Price

Average order value: $15,000 — reflecting true rarity and artisanal authorship.

Place

Flagship private salons and a dedicated client mobile application.

Promotion

Invitation-only launch supported by artisan documentary storytelling.

People

Certified artisans and dedicated private client advisors.

Campaign Concept

> "From Fibre to Forever"

Milan Fashion Week

Private reveal — a singular, by-invitation moment in the world's luxury capital.

Artisan Documentary

Mini-series tracing the full journey from raw fibre to finished commission.

Private Previews

Exclusive client presentations for the house's most trusted inner circle.

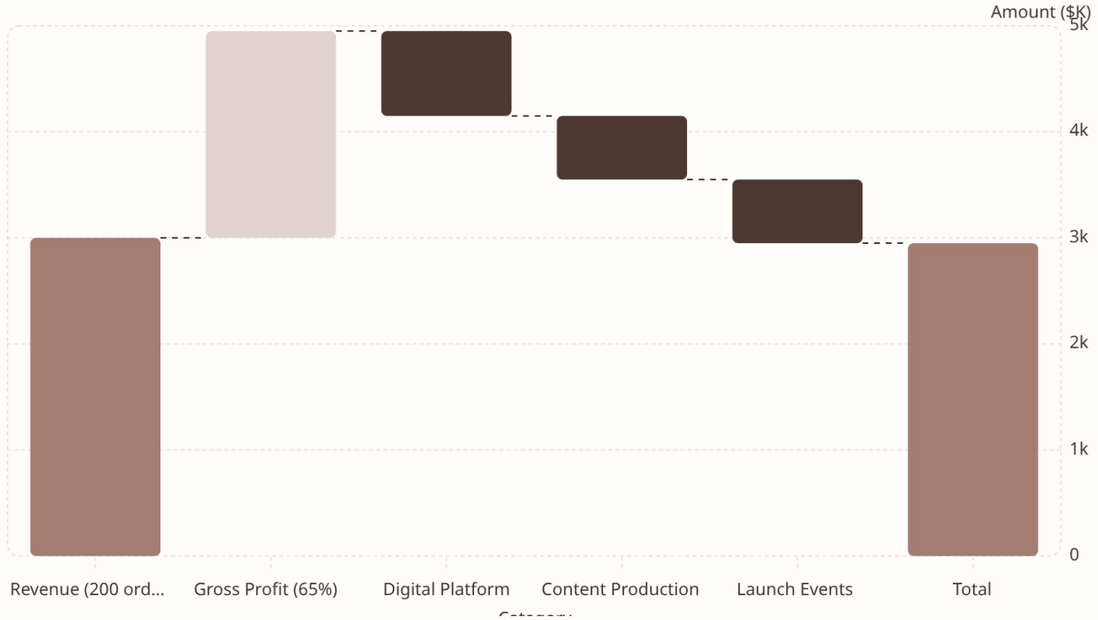
Ultra–Wealth Media

Targeted editorial placement across discreet, high-authority luxury channels.

Digital Partnerships

Strategic alliances with leading platforms in the digital luxury ecosystem.

Financial Projections



Assumptions

200 bespoke orders in Year 1 · Avg. price: $15,000 · Revenue: $3M

Margins

65% gross margin · $1.95M gross profit

Costs

$800K digital platform · $600K content production · $600K launch events

Break–Even

Projected at 12–15 months post-launch.

Key Performance Indicators

+25%

Bespoke Conversion

Increase in bespoke conversion rate

+15%

Under–40 UHNWI

Growth in younger ultra-high-net-worth clientele

+30%

Repeat Purchase

Repeat purchases within 18 months

+20%

Customer LTV

Increase in customer lifetime value

+10%

Resale Premium

Premium on the secondary luxury market

Time & Action Calendar

Months 1—3

Platform development · Artisan technology deployment

1

2

Months 4—6

Beta testing with top 1% founding clients

Month 9

Milan global launch — the From Fibre to Forever reveal

3

4

Year 2

Expansion to US and Asia — five flagship cities

Conclusion

> Heritage is no longer inherited. It is co-created.

Market Ready

The market is primed for traceable ultra-luxury at this level of ambition.

Vertical Integration

A unique, end-to-end advantage from raw fibre to verified ownership.

Scalable Model

Financially disciplined, designed to grow without compromising exclusivity.

Brand Equity

Strengthens long-term equity and redefines what luxury ownership means.

Reference

Bain & Company and Altagamma. Global Luxury Market Study 2023. Bain & Company, 2023.

Bain & Company. Luxury Report 2024: Rebuilding the Foundations of Luxury. Bain & Company, 2024.

Deloitte. Global Powers of Luxury Goods 2023. Deloitte Insights, 2023.

McKinsey & Company. The State of Fashion 2024. McKinsey & Company, 2024.

Loro Piana. Official Website Visual Assets. Loro Piana, 2026, www.loropiana.com. Accessed 27 Feb. 2026.